In my hands I hold the future.
Bright plans, grave ideas
—for tomorrow,

I must spend these brief hours and days of time
—to shape tomorrow.

Will I do my best? Or,
will I be satisfied with something less than contentment?
There are many hours to spend
—and much to be achieved.

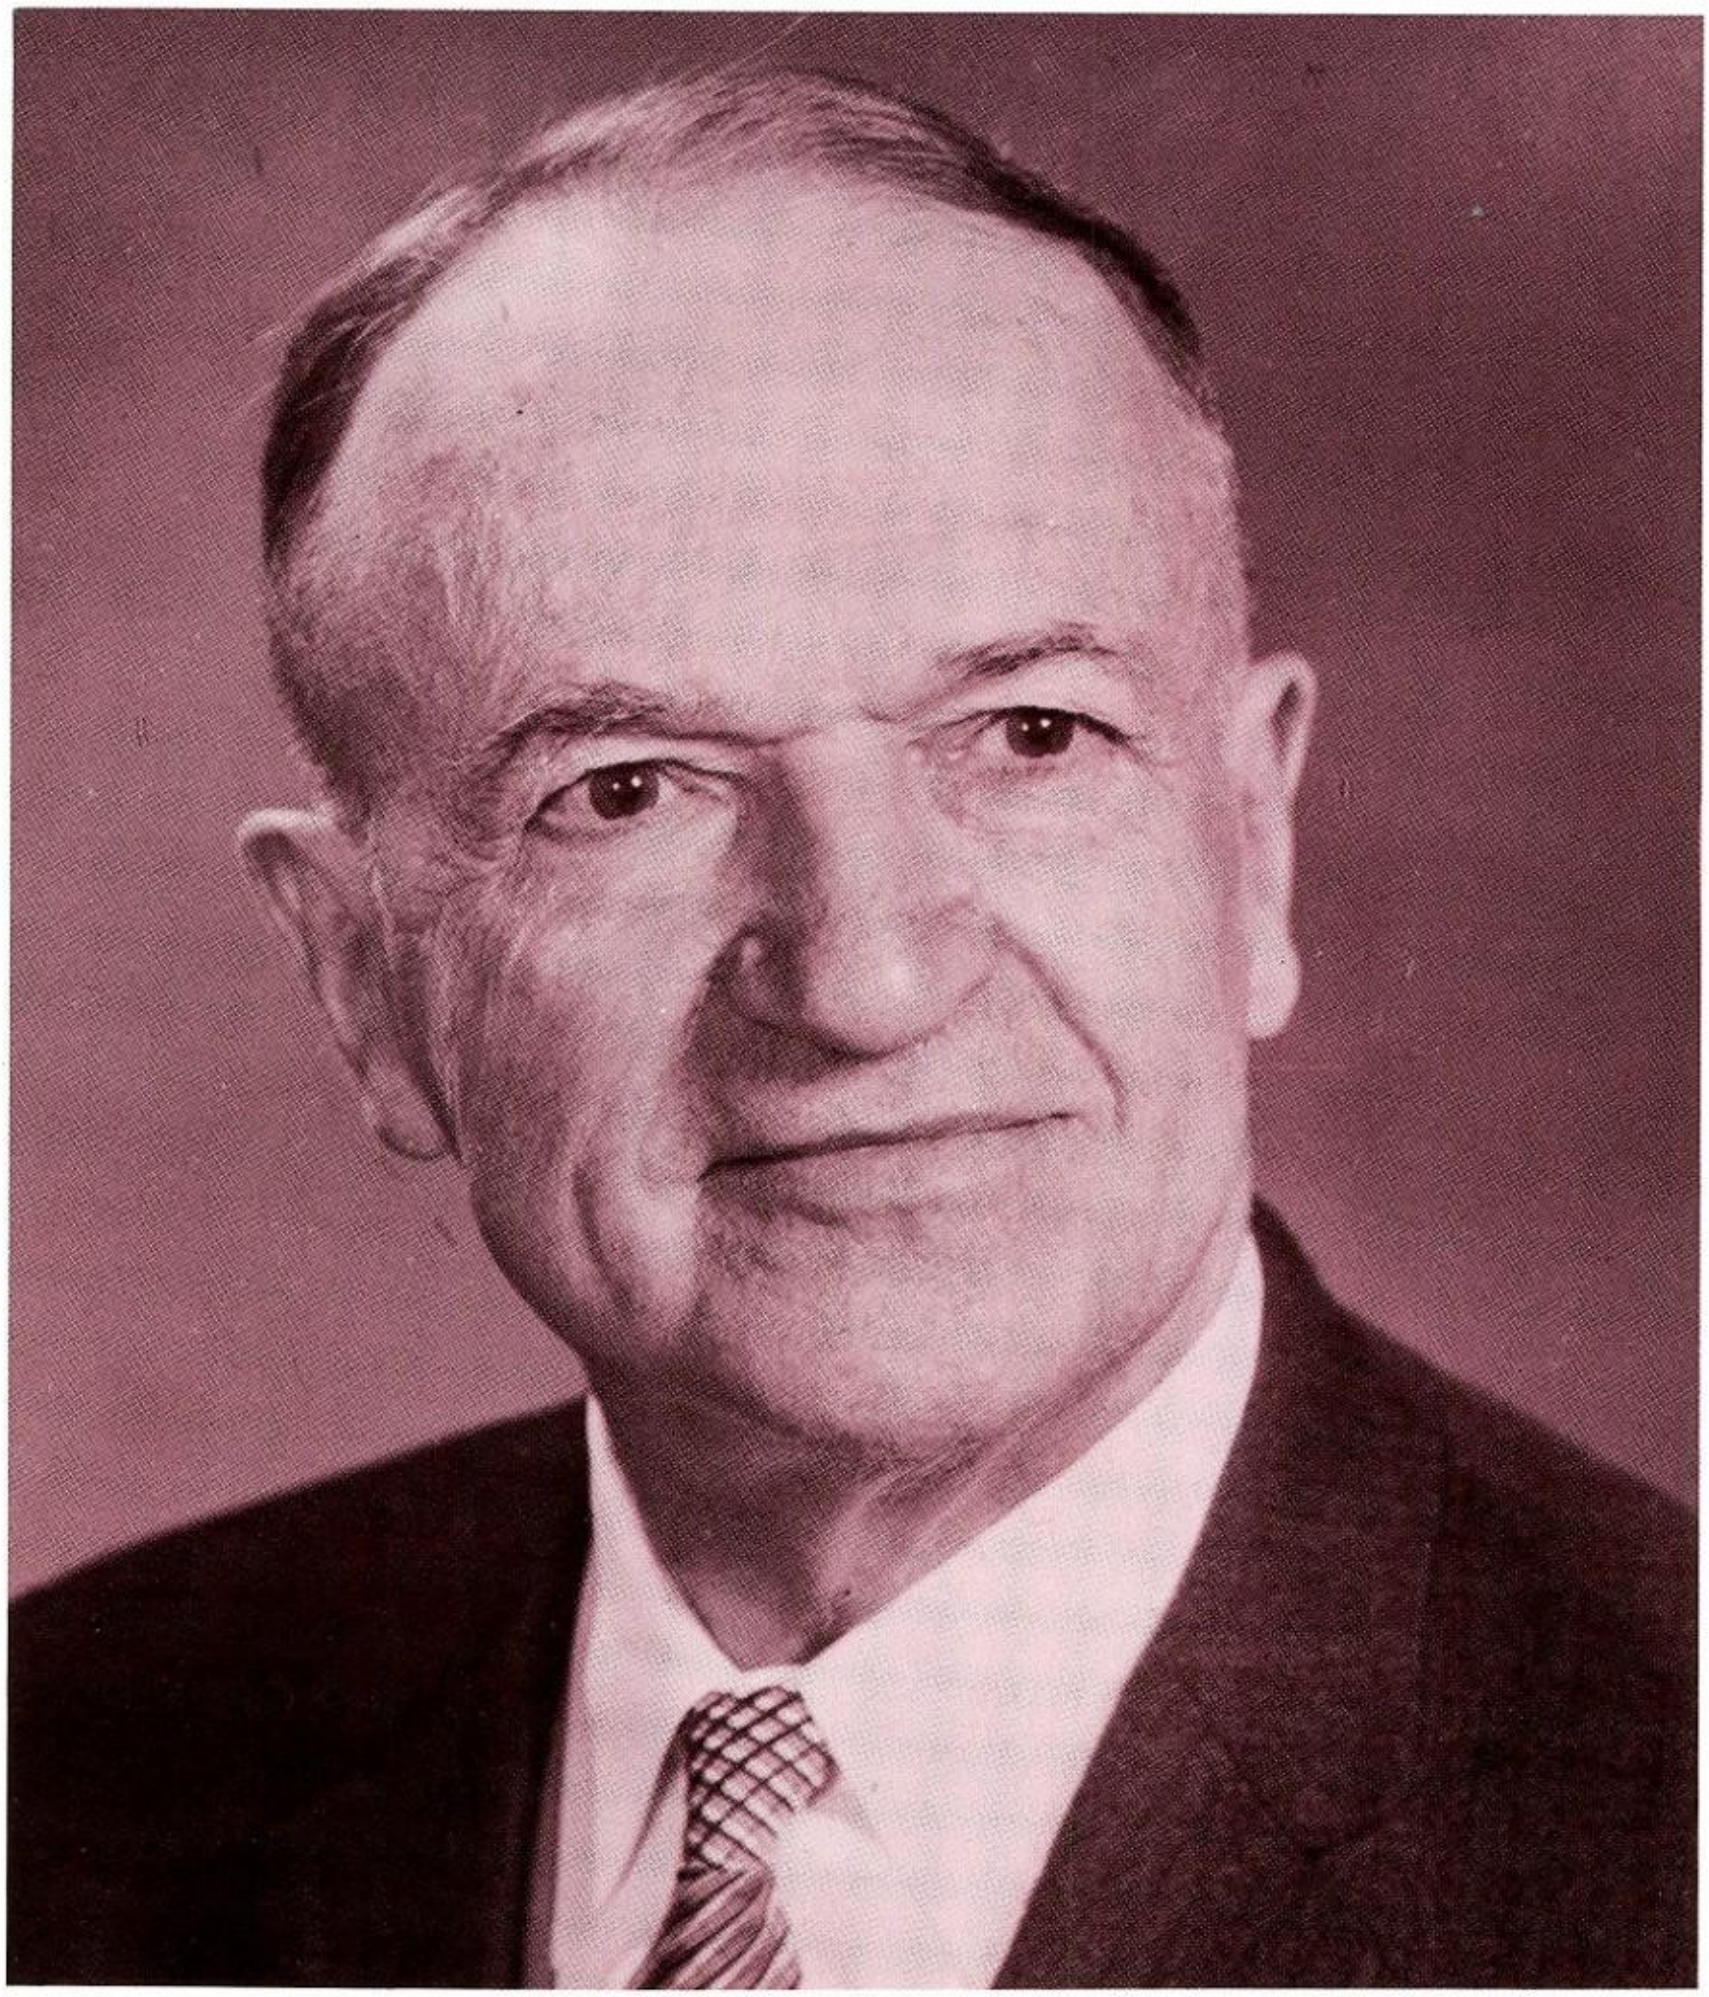
The Foreword

Colophon is defined as the "finishing touch." And so, this book is the finishing touch to our high school career. To prevent the cherished memories of our high school days from fading, the seniors proudly present the 1961 Colophon.

As we depart from the halls of Hurst, we find ourselves reluctant to leave and embark upon the road of life. The sometimes feared road of life holds something different for each of us.

In years to come, this book will bring back the joyous events and trying moments both in the classroom and on the playing field. If in the future, we can maintain the spirit and philosophy portrayed by this Colophon, success and happiness shall be the finishing touch to our lives.

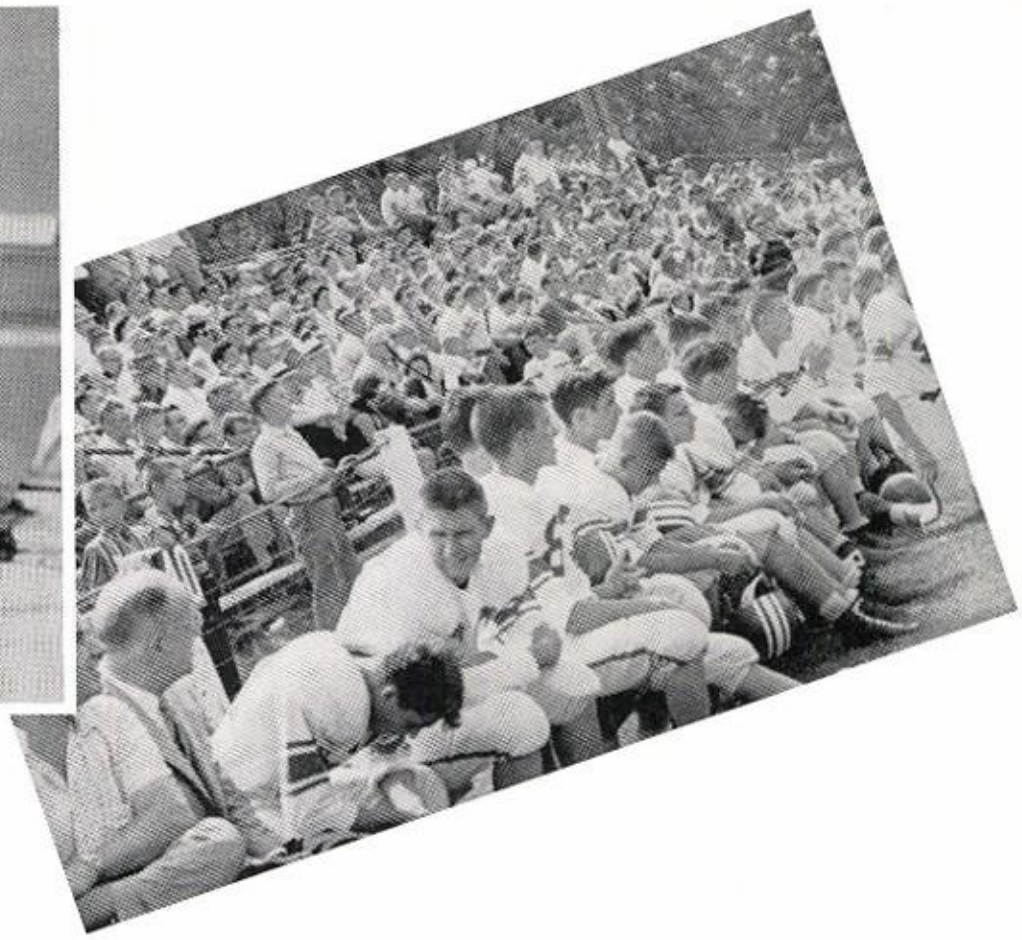
Dedication



DR. S. S. DEVAUX

There are innumerable reasons why the graduating class of 1961 has chosen to dedicate this book to Dr. S. S. DeVaux; however, the paramount factor was the simple rapport of sincere friendship which he had established with all the Hurst students.

During the thirty-eight years he has spent as the school doctor and physician for our football team, Dr. DeVaux has managed to win the confidence and respect of the entire community.

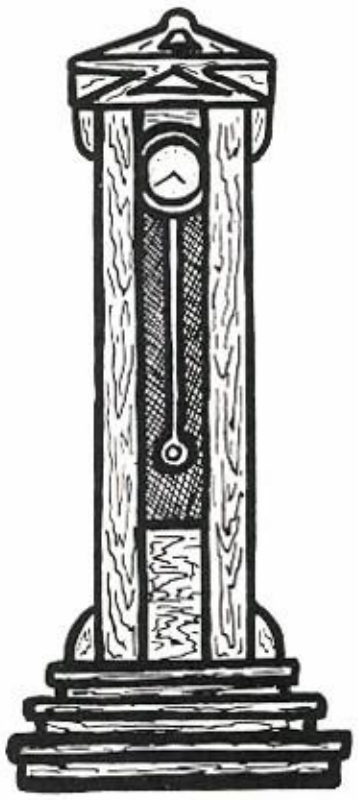


After his graduation from the Mt. Pleasant Institute in 1907, Dr. DeVaux entered Otterbein College in Ohio and was graduated in 1910. The next 10 years of his life were devoted to teaching in Scottdale and Greensburg. Then he entered the Cincinnati Medical School in Ohio and was graduated from there in 1922. The following year he served his internship at the McKeesport Hospital. It was in the same year that he came to Hurst High School as the school doctor and physician for the football team. From that time until now, he has served our school in that capacity.

He has also been on the staff of the Mt. Pleasant Hospital for the past 35 years. In that time, the doctor has delivered more than 2,000 new citizens into the world and has seen many of them eventually become grid stars for the Scarlet Hurricanes.

Since 1923, Dr. Davaux has witnessed more than 300 Hurst grid contests. For the past few seasons, he has been writing poetry about Hurst football, and the reading of his poems has been a highlight of the annual football banquet.

Dr. DeVaux has enjoyed a long tenure at Hurst, in which time he has attained the title of the "father" of Hurst High School football.



Administration

Finding time a scarce commodity, the Administration is constantly racing against time and the inevitable day of graduation.
In four short years,
these educators have worked with the accuracy and precision of a Grandfather's Clock—for the hour when they must turn their proteges out into the world.

Board of Directors

In every school district there is a committee—the Board of Education, elected by the people to plan for the educational needs of the community. This representative group is confronted with many problems which concern the welfare of the pupil. The 1960-61 school year at Hurst High School depicted in this Colophon is the result of the honest endeavors of these men.

Their valid and reliable decisions have given them the satisfaction of knowing that they are responsible for having given the youth of our community a well-rounded education, essential for propagating the Democratic way of life. From all who have been affiliated with Hurst High School during this past year, we give our sincere gratitude to the Mt. Pleasant Township School Board.

In this world everything that marks an end, also marks a beginning. The end of one day is the commencement of another. So it is with our education. What you have learned at school, valuable as it is, is only the beginning. The end of high school work merely means the commencement of those experiences which will put to the test the principles you have learned.

You have enjoyed that blessing which a benevolent community has bestowed upon her children—a free education. To you has been given freely that which great men of the past have obtained only with many sacrifices and much labor.

May your hopes and dreams be realized as you begin the larger life which lies just beyond the threshold.

I would like to congratulate the seniors of Hurst High School upon their graduation. For you, I hope the very best of everything in whatever venture you may find yourself. You must always remember that your graduation from high school is just the beginning, and you must continuously, in all areas, try for self improvement.

May you consider this from Albert Camus:

"My role, I know is not to transform the world, nor man: for that I have not virtues enough, nor clearsightedness. But it consists, perhaps, in serving where I can, those few values without which a world, even transformed, is not worth living in, without which a man, even new, would be worthy of respect."

Gold, diamonds and precious stones are mined and commercialized after much searching, digging, cutting and polishing. This takes work, patience, skill, and knowledge, and then they become a thing of rare beauty. Let us look within and see ourselves as others see us. You will develop and radiate truth, beauty, righteousness and peace after you have searched, dug deep and polished the truths of life within your minds, hearts and lives. In so doing, you will gain power, wisdom, and human understanding. This is achieved after work, patience, long application and concentrated study. After all this, then you may expect to enter through the Door of the Temple of Knowledge.

What the future holds for each is uncertain—
It is a time of decision upon the road of life to be followed.
The seniors must now close the door of adolescence,

The decision made now will always be contemporary.

The Senior Class History

We, the senior class of 1961, have reached the parting of the ways! Our class is about to take the trail taken by all high school graduates. For the past four years we have been in a transitory stage.

In September, 1957, we entered our high school as freshmen, half-frightened, ignorant of our new environment, and entirely at a loss as to what was expected of us. Since then, we have advanced to the rank of seniors, preparing to take another step, a little larger, a little more perilous—and we feel somewhat as we did then, wondering what awaits us on the road of life.

They've been full years, brimming with many and various experiences. We made a place for ourselves by being well represented in extracurricular activities and finished our first term a much wiser, more confident group. During our sophomore year we could now sit back and smile at the naive underclassmen and satisfy our ego by giving directions and explaining things from our vast store of knowledge.

Almost before realizing it, we had arrived at another milestone of our school career, and as juniors we were busy choosing our class rings and producing our class play, "The Boarding House Reach," which proved a great success! Another highlight of this year was the prom which climaxed our junior year.

In our senior year, we began to see the practical side of knowledge. This last milestone brought joyous experiences—posing for photographs, exchanging name cards and pictures, and working for the success of the class play, "Washington Never Slept Here." But, Alas! All good things must come to an end, and in a few short months we found ourselves caught in a whirl of events leading to graduation.

Our high school career has ended; but the real history of the class of '61 is unrecorded. What lies ahead? That remains to be seen!

For the student, time is an almost constant, unchanging concept. These four years seem as an eternity to underclassmen, with time passing as slowly as the sands of an hourglass— However, as the end of these four years approach, they marvel at this seeming timelessness.

Class History

Our flame of knowledge has constantly grown with these three fleeting years. No longer does this flame flicker. Soon it will burst into a torch that will serve as a guide in our future years.

Little do we realize that just three years ago we entered Hurst High School as "verdant freshmen." Because everything was so different we couldn't adjust ourselves to the changed environment, but soon those problems were ironed out.

We entered the next year as proud, reliable, understanding sophomores. It was our turn to enjoy the peculiar actions of the "freshies."

Now we are upperclassmen. We fit into the picture of clubs and various activities as though we had been accustomed to them for years. Proud are we to be energetic juniors, but we eagerly look forward to the days of being "dignified seniors."

To the class of '61, we, the class of '62, extend our sincerest wishes for the future. You are now embarking on life's long voyage, and in that mission let your education be the guiding light—a torch held above—marking a discriminating difference between right and wrong. May the ensuing years prove to be very happy ones, and may you never forget the school which gave to you its capable and invaluable encouragement.

Class History

On a beautiful late summer day, August 31, 1959, 153 frightened little freshmen entered the halls of Hurst High. We were all terrified that we would not get to the right class on time. After memorizing our schedules, we had other difficulties to think about—getting along with the teachers and upperclassmen and coping with the homework.

To many of us, high school was an entirely different world which we enjoyed very much, with the exception of the homework. There was something new at Hurst that we didn't have at grade school—"detention hall." Even though it was only three days a week, some were seen in it quite often. Finally, to our amazement, the school term was over and it hadn't been as difficult as we had thought. In fact, we were looking forward to coming back our sophomore year.

When we returned the first day of our sophomore year, we felt more at ease and decided to enjoy the first day by misleading the freshmen. Our once timid little classmates had begun to grow up and were now the principal players on the junior varsity basketball and football squad. All too quickly another year passed—a step further in attaining our future educational goal.

Class History

During the summer of '60 the thoughts of some 208 frightened eighth grade graduates turned toward the day when they would enter the hallowed halls of "Hurst High" as Freshmen. Initiation day was as difficult as we had expected for lipstick was made known to many.

The first football game, the first assembly, changing of classes, searching for the unknown elevator, and detention hall made this year quite exciting for all. Yes, this freshman year has been quite a memorable one, for we have made many new friends not only with the students but also with the teachers.

Because this freshman year has been a year filled with happiness and success, we hope to return and make the next year even greater. Now the thoughts in our minds have turned toward the day when we will be considered as the "dignified" upperclassmen.

Clubs

To make our high school life more interesting, various clubs and organizations have been established throughout the years.
The high membership in these organizations this year reveals as does the traditional clock, the unsurmountable part they have taken in helping to socialize the individual student.

National Forensic League

This organization is established for the purpose of developing good public speakers. All activities take place at tournaments held almost every Saturday. After receiving a total of 25 points, a membership is granted to the students. This enables them to compete with boys and girls from other schools and gain experience in all phases of speaking—extemporaneous, declamations, debating, and student congress.

Degrees of honor, excellence, and distinction are awarded to members as they accumulate points. Senior members receive official N.F.L. pins with jewels representing their respective degree.

ROW I: J. Davis, B. Ahlborn, P. Porch. ROW II: J. Huffman, J. Muchoney, R. Pinkney, C. Drexler. ROW III: B. Anderson, R. Rodgers, L. Fess, F. Mizenko, T. Raishart, B. Schacte. ROW IV: Friedline, L. Striving to encourage students into the teaching profession is the purpose of the F.T.A. In this organization a student begins to develop a professional attitude about the teaching career. By having an opportunity to work with children, the members begin to realize the potential satisfaction of teaching. To cultivate the qualities of scholarship, leadership, and character are the aims of the club.

There are 25 members in the Hurst Chapter of the F.T.A. All members are required to meet the national, state, and local association requirements before becoming members. Only members of the Junior and Senior classes are eligible to join.

At the beginning of the second semester the members undertook the project of student teaching in their chosen field. By this enlightening experience it is hoped that many of these fine scholars will be encouraged to become teachers.

A newly formed organization of Hurst High is the Library Club. The membership is smaller than in most other clubs, but the Library Club's purpose is not so small. This purpose is to stir reading interest within the students and to further education through reading.

The members of the Library Club will receive instruction concerning the operation of the library with the aim to draw student librarians from the membership of the club.

There is a plan in the making whereby there will be a County Library Club. If such an organization is formed, the Hurst High Library Club has received permission to become a member.

Chapters function as classical clubs on the secondary school level. Only those who are currently taking Latin or who have completed all the courses offered by the school are eligible for membership. Regularly scheduled meetings, social affairs, projects, excursions, etc., form a part of the club's activities. This club differs from the usual school club in the sense that it is part of a national organization.

Just as the tempo of the timed beats of each country advance at a steady pace, the tempo of activities in the past school year has paced at an exuberant and steady speed for the students. Compared to the complex activities of the world, ours may seem trivial, but to the student body, they are just as important.

The Colophon Staff

The "Colophon" staff has endeavored to publish a book which will preserve the happy acquaintances you have had at Hurst. To reveal the accomplishments of every student has been the primary aim.

In spite of the many long hours after school spent in getting ads, taking pictures, making write-ups, and organizing material, it has, nevertheless, been a most enjoyable task. If the goal has been achieved, the staff is content.

And so, to the class of '61—your Colophon.

The Hurstonian Staff

A Hurst journalism class, under the capable advising of Miss Letitia Myers, established a newspaper, the "Hurstonian" in 1936. Now, exactly 25 years later, a different staff but the same adviser is celebrating the "Silver Anniversary." A memorable banquet was held in honor of Miss Myers earlier in the year.

This year, because of the extra large class, a group of eight students was selected as page editors. Much time and effort were put into the Hurstonian each month to make it a success. Many honors have been bestowed upon the school paper in the history of its making, including a First Class Pitt Award. Although the Hurstonian may never have a Golden Anniversary, it has had a memorable Silver Anniversary.

"George Washington Never Slept Here"

presented
March 16, 1961

In this three-act mystery-comedy, the main topic of discussion is centered around the subject of ghosts.

When Mr. Lyndon Mathews, who is an employe of the Department of the Interior, calls for only one ghost, he finds more than he needs and on the very day that his boss, Mr. White, is to arrive for a visit, the ghost suddenly appears. Many problems arise because Mr. Mathews is the only one who can see the ghost.

Confusion takes place when the children, who are trying to come to the rescue of their father, decide to masquerade as ghosts.

After many hectic moments and loads of laughs, the play ended a great success.

"Headin' For The Hills"

presented
Friday, December 2, 1960

Imagine teen-age actors on the stage barefooted and dressed in rags. This was what happened in our Junior Class Play.

The story was about two wealthy orphans whose only living relatives were a hillbilly family that operated a general store in Lone Mule, Tennessee. Their father's will directs the girls to spend their summers in Lone Mule or else forfeit their share of the fortune. Both girls hate the arrangement, because they are a bit spoiled and accustomed to luxuries.

Their uncle in Lone Mule, Cyrus Goolus, who also received part of the will, tries to chase the girls away and inherit all the fortune himself. The girls become aware of this and decide to play the same game.

In an avalanche of fun and laughter, Uncle Cyrus shows the girls the worst of hillbilly living.

Hurricane Band

Under the supervision of Mr. James Avampato, the Hurst High "Hurricane" Band, was made up of sixty-four instrumentalists and nine majorettes. In addition to performing for eight football games and participating in the pep assemblies, this fine marching unit was host to the Second Marching Festival of Bands and Bugle Corps at our stadium.

The band gained further honor for our school when it presented the first live marching show presentation on Channel 4 Television in September.

Members of this fine organization were also chosen to make up the Concert Band of Hurst, which also had a very busy schedule. It performed for two class plays, had exchange assembly concerts with Park Terrace and Ligonier, and gave their annual spring concert on April 28th.

Snow Ball

Dancing at the left are Phil Corey and Diane Weiers as they reigned as King and Queen of Hurst at the fourth annual Snow Ball on December 20, which was sponsored by the Band.

Ten other couples, who were chosen by their respective classmates, composed the royal court.

Ron Mondock, captain of the Band, crowned the couple after which everyone danced.

This will be a memorable event for Diane and Phil.

Her Majesty

The annual Homecoming, a gala event for all Hurst Alumni, was again touched off by the colorful Assembly before the Dunbar game. At halftime, the large crowd witnessed the coronation of Miss Bernadette Urban as the Queen.

Another feature of the event, was a gruelling gridiron battle waged with Dunbar, with the Scarlet Hurricanes emerging as the victors. After the game, a dance was held at the Norvelt auditorium, which brought Homecoming weekend to a successful close.

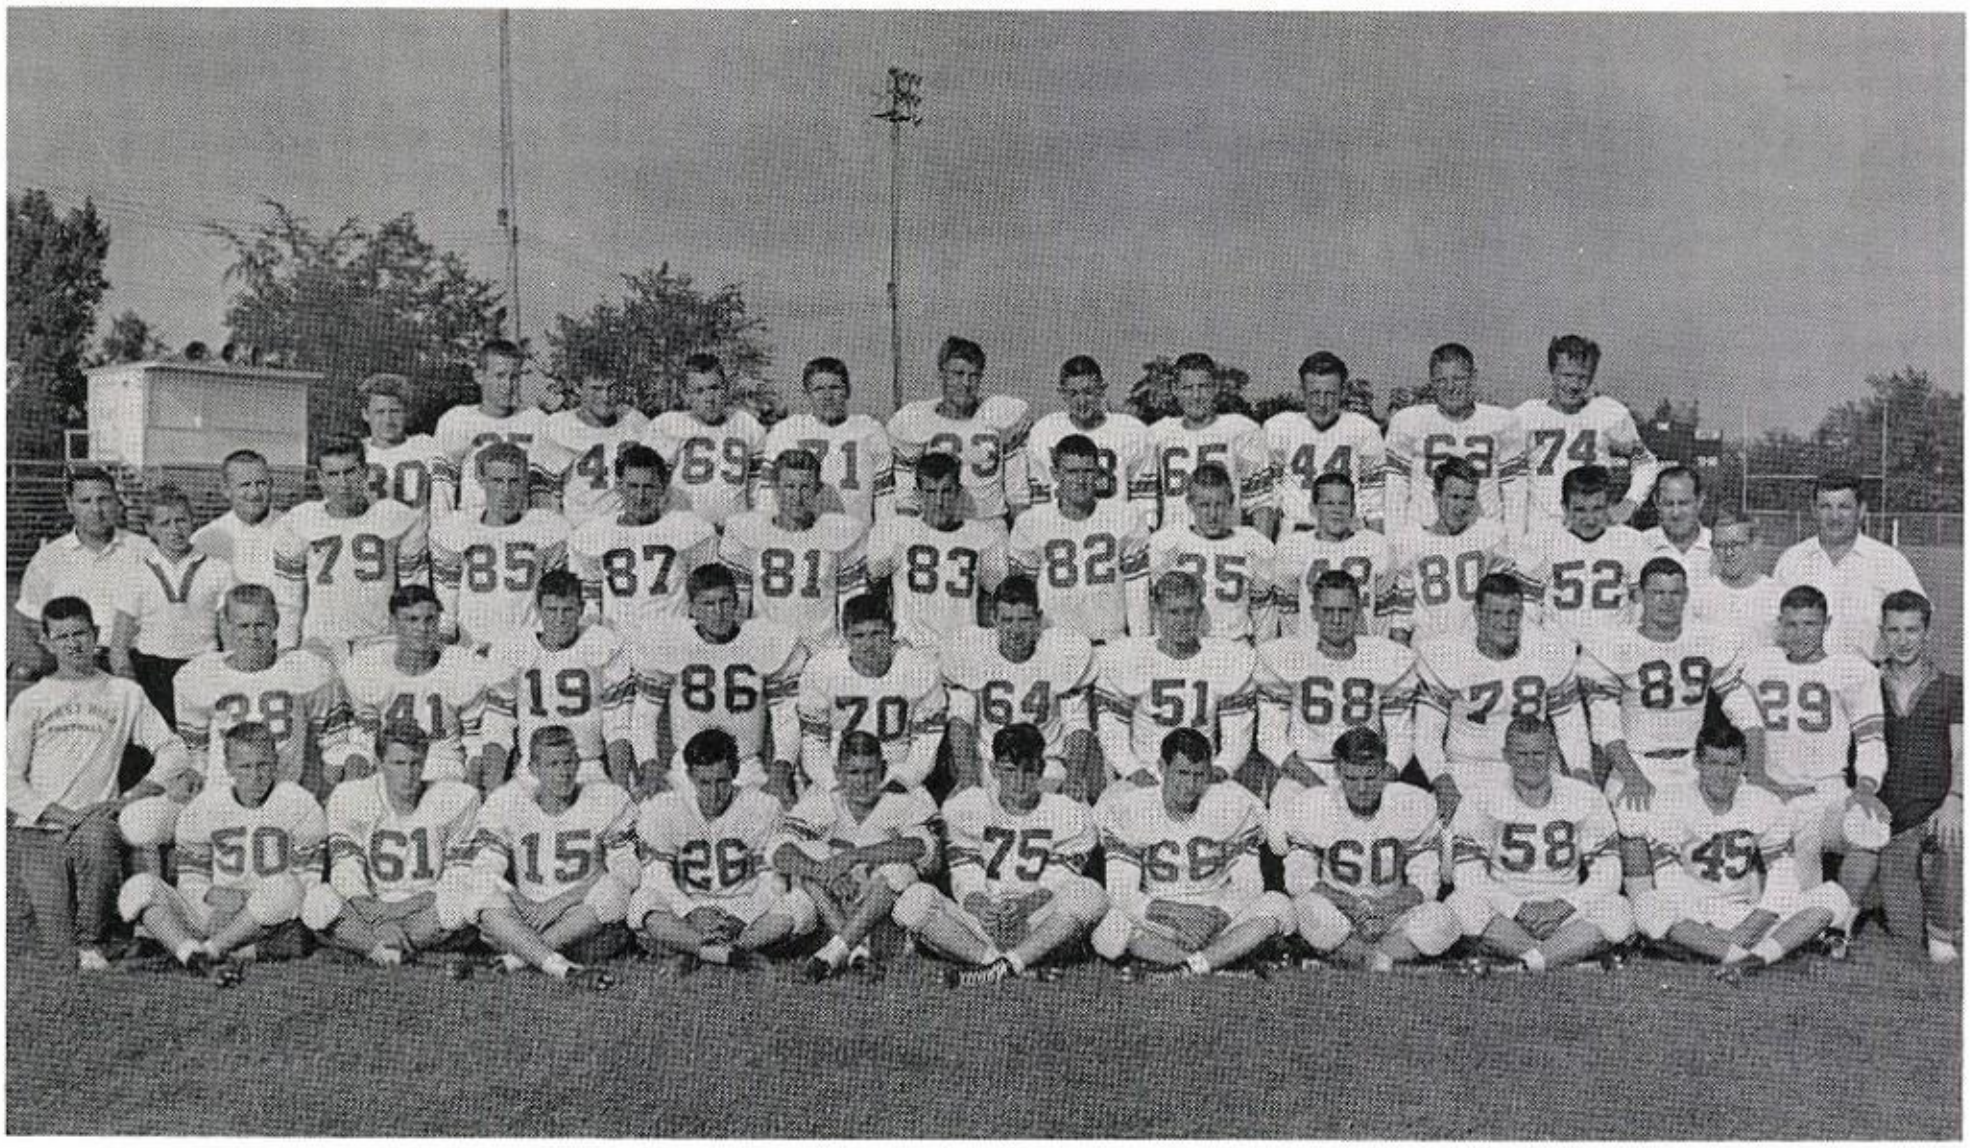
Sports

Split-second timing has been a characteristic portrayed by our athletes throughout the year. For each contest, these students have been trained in executing each action thoroughly and accurately.
To the student, these competitive experiences cannot be measured.



1960 Scarlet Hurricane

Each year, in the last two weeks of August, the football team begins to prepare for the coming grid season. Calisthenics, football drills, sunlight, and good food fill the daily schedule for the participants.

For each minute of action on the field, the squad must spend countless hours of drill toward perfection. This year with nine returning lettermen from a squad which lost only one game, the coaches worked feverishly to put a well-trained, precision drilled squad on the field. Finally, the big day comes, the first game.

HURST vs. ROCHESTER

We opened our season at home on a beautiful late summer afternoon. The air was filled with tension; the players' hearts were filled with anxiousness. It was a see-saw affair until the third quarter, when a poor punt on the part of Rochester enabled the Hurricane to get the ball deep in enemy territory. A few plays later we scored and the game ended 7-0 in our favor.

HURST vs. SOUTH UNION

The next week our game was at South Union. This was a hard fought battle all the way. Hurst kept trying with undying determination, but the opposition was too great. The game ended 32-21 in their favor.

HURST vs. SCOTTDALE

On the following Friday night, the Hurricane trekked to Scottdale for their annual engagement. In the opinion of many, this was the best game our team played all year. Hurst's stellar defense proved to be the deciding factor. The final score, Hurst 19, Scottdale 7.

HURST vs. GREENSBURG

One week later, found our team, once again, at Offut Field. All were on edge for this game and a capacity crowd filled the stadium. Everyone wondered if Hurst could repeat with another stellar performance. Both teams were up and ready for this game, but it didn't take long to see that the Golden Lions had more power and gridiron savvy. The game ended 26-0 in favor of Greensburg.

HURST vs. DUNBAR

Next came the Dunbar "Mules." This was Homecoming for the Hurst aulmni and students. The team made it a triumphant weekend by upending the "Mules" 20 to 13.

HURST vs. KITTANNING

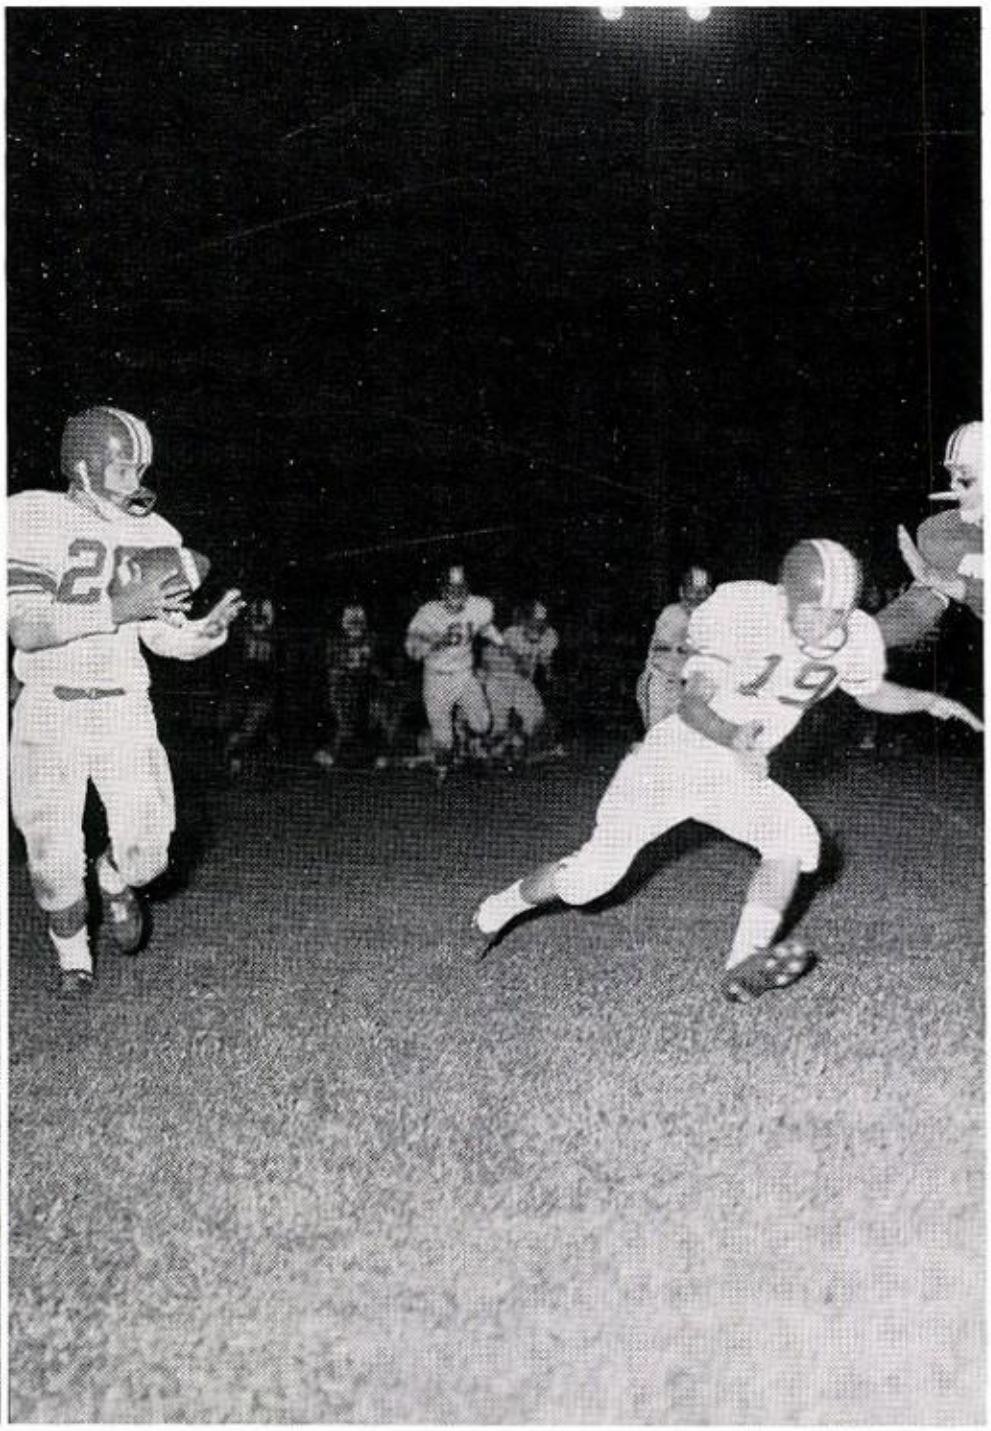
After another hard week of practice, the squad boarded the bus for a long trip to play a new opponent. Good scouting plus the fact that the boys didn't go to Kittaning just for the ride, ended up in another victory for our Alma Mater. Final score: Hurst 20, Kittanning 18.

HURST vs. DERRY

Then came our yearly tussle with the tough Derry Area "Trojans." After the first contact was made, the fans knew that they would see another gruelling contest between these long-time rivals. Both teams lacked an adequate defense and the fans witnessed many long runs throughout the evening. When the final gun sounded Hurst was on the short end of a 32-26 score.

HURST vs. BRADDOCK

Our final game was on our own field with one of the toughest teams in the W.P.I.A.L. For us, this was one of those games in which character is built. We fought back, but Braddock's size and know-how was just too much. Final score was Braddock 39, Hurst 7.



Gridiron Heroes

JIM NOCK

Jim was one of the hardest players on the team. With his previous year's experience, Jim was a stellar performer. Because of his stature, opponents found it difficult to outflank this determined gridder.

BILL HARR

Weighing over 200 pounds, Bill used it to break up many of the enemy's plays aimed at his side of the line. This was his third year as a letterman for the Hurricanes.

JIM SISTEK

Hard-running fullbacks have been a tradition at Hurst. This boy was no exception. On defense, he possessed the ability to diagnose enemy plays before they got started. Jim proved to be a very dependable player.

JOE MIELE

Although this was his first year of playing, Joe turned out to be our regular middle-guard. His strength enabled him to be our defensive stalwart.

RON BURTYK

His ability to pull out and lead interference was his chief asset. As the season progressed, Ron kept getting better. He should develop into a standout lineman.

FRANK PUSHKAR

Where the action was, Frank was. He was a vicious blocker that could really dish it out. Frank is anxiously looking forward to next season.

TOM YARABINETZ

Alternating at the tackle position, this boy made a lasting impression on all opponents. His philosophy was that actions speak louder than words.

VICTOR STAIRS

Big, fast, and agile best describes this boy. His ability to get down field under punts and kickoffs was a feature of every game. He entered each contest with his heart set on winning.

PHIL COREY

This boy was probably one of the best quarterbacks our school ever had. Cool, cunning, and calculating, he guided the team to its fullest capacity.

BARRY NEWILL

The type of boy that a coach likes to work with, because of his fine attitude. He was a regular defensive halfback. Our victory over Rochester can be attributed to this boy's quick thinking.

DON QUEER

Don was one of the most valuable players on the team. He was a tough ball-carrier, strong linebacker, and a good punter; the type of boy that could play on any team.

BOB CIBULAS

This boy was particularly noted for his offensive ability. His blocking was a highlight of our line-play throughout the campaign.

JACK BARR

A fine broken field runner with plenty of speed best describes Jack. His determination made up for his lack of weight. His break away speed was a threat to all opponents.

BARRY QUEER

This 175 pounder from Norvelt held down the Left End position. Due to his pass-catching ability, he was responsible for much of Hurst's offensive strength. A great competitor that liked the game best when it was rough.

With the excitement of another grid campaign gone, the boys were able to relax for the first time in over three months. The 1960 team exhibited a strong desire to win, an ability to play in the spirit of sportsmanship, and the characteristic of losing gracefully, when they had to lose.

Long after the records are forgotten, members of the team will be remembered by the community for the recognition and renown they brought to Hurst. Beneath the record lies the experience and never-say-die spirit gained by those that performed on the gridiron. They will be remembered not for how many games won or lost, but for how each played the game.

Hurricane Basketball

Under the leadership of Coach Tom Beck, the 1960-61 edition of the Hurst High cagers improved tremendously over last year's record. Despite the many heartbreaks on the court, spectator interest and enthusiasm continued to grow. The team this year was in Section II, which is one of the strongest sections in the W.P.I.A.L.

The season's record reveals that out of 22 games played, our team had won 7. However, the scores show the joy, excitement, and anxiety of the fast-moving game of basketball.

Although the team did not win any trophies or awards, the boys brought fame to the school because they played hard and possessed the true spirit of the game. The highlight for the team was when they defeated the Golden Lions of Greensburg in the season's finale, 54-50.

Hurricane Baseball

During the 1961 season, the Hurst nine, which seemed to have all the breaks going against them, still continued to play good baseball in spite of the odds. Due to the heavy rains and even snow, five games were cancelled. Also, because the home diamond was not in shape to be played on, the team had to play their home games at Standard. With only 3 days of practice, one of which was on a baseball diamond, the Hurst nine took the field against Hempfield on April 20th, and the season started. The next two games were then cancelled because of the heavy rainfall.

Despite these overwhelming odds against them, this year's team continued to play good baseball as all Hurst teams have in the past history of the school.

"What we call foreign affairs is no longer foreign affairs. It's a local affair. Whatever happens in Indonesia is important to Indiana. Whatever happens in any corner of the world has some effect on the farmer in Dickinson County, Kansas, or on a worker at a factory . . . The world must learn to work together—or finally it will not work at all."
